Finding cemeteries and burials in Ohio counties

<http://www.interment.net/us/oh/index.htm>

As the nation prepares for the Civil War's 2011 sesquicentennial, NOAA, with the support of the federal Preserve America initiative, has assembled a special collection of maps, charts, and documents prepared by the U.S. Coast Survey (a NOAA predecessor) during the war. The collection, called "Charting a More Perfect Union," contains more than 400 documents now available online.

Destructive Wind Storm.

A very destructive wind storm passed over a portion of Freedom township last Friday evening, shortly after 6 o'clock. Several farms on and near the lime ridge road suffered damage in the loss of fences, trees, outbuildings, etc., while two—Mr. John Wigle's and Mr. Benj. Bowers—suffered to the extent of at least one thousand dollars each, a loss which falls heavily as there is no recompense whatever. At Mr. Wigle's the angry elements unrooted every building on the place, and lifted a large barn off its foundation, while fences and outbuildings were literally torn to shreds and carried off on the wind in fragments. At Bowers' the damage was hardly less extensive. Here barns were partially destroyed, the upper part of the dwelling damaged, and smaller buildings laid low. Other sufferers, but to a less extent, are H. Damon, G. W. Kneeland, C. Williams and E. Tuttle, the principal damage sustained by these being the loss of trees and fences.

It was by all odds the most serious storm that ever visited that section, at least within the memory of the oldest inhabitants. Twenty years ago a storm swept through the locality, but without leaving such extensive damage in its wake as this. A large number of people visited the scene Sunday, to view wrecks. The losers are receiving abundant assistance from their sympathetic neighbors in righting up what can be saved.

DEATH OF GEORGE ROBINSON.

A Prominent Citizen Gone.

George Robinson, for forty-seven years a resident of Ravenna, died Wednesday, July 12, 1882, at his residence East Main-st., after a protracted illness, in the 81st year of his age.

Mr. Robinson was born at Lancaster, Penn., November 21, 1801, of Scotch-Irish parentage, and of a family of thirteen children, he was the last survivor. His father died when his son was eighteen years of age, and, seeing a large family dependent upon a widowed mother, the young lad started out into the world, with but a solitary five franc piece in money, with but a limited education; but, with almost boundless energy and a will to succeed, he went forward. For one year he worked upon a farm, earning sufficient money to pay his school tuition for two years, he earning his board by labor out of school hours. This done, he had to adopt some life-work, and decided to acquire the trade of a carpenter. When about completing his apprenticeship, he fell from a building, breaking one of his legs, upon which he was unable to walk for two years. This incident or accident, changed the whole tenor of his after life, but the two years of enforced confinement were by no means lost, as he continued his studies, perfecting himself particularly in mathematics. His sister, the late Mrs. Margaret Williamson, with whom at that time he made his home, has related this incident, which is illustrative of his persistent energy and mental application.

"George," said the late Mrs. W., "had been working several days on a difficult mathematical problem, without succeeding in solving it. One night about midnight, he aroused the family, calling for a light, and slate and pencil, as he could then solve the stubborn problem. Being himself unable to hold either light or slate, he had to ask his sister and her husband to do that, and then in a rapid manner, he quickly covered both sides of the slate with figures, and writing the answer at the bottom of one side, he said, 'there it is,' and turned over and went to sleep."

After his recovery, he continued his studies, teaching school winters, until he could obtain a position in his chosen profession of civil engineering, which he did in the year 1823, beginning at the lower round of the ladder, and climbing upward, to the topmost point of the profession. In 1830 he became assistant engineer on the Ohio Canal, and so remained until its completion, and then, in 1835, accepted a similar position on the Pennsylvania and Ohio Canal, and made his headquarters at Ravenna. (where he ever afterward resided) soon being promoted to Chief Engineer, which position he held until 1845, when he retired from the canal. In the last named year he entered upon the surveys for the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad, and soon became its Chief Engineer, and when the road was ready for operation became its first Superintendent. In 1853 he left the C. & P. R. R. to accept the chief engineership of the Cleveland and Mahoning Railroad, and remained as Chief Engineer and Superintendent until 1865, when he permanently retired from the construction and management of public works, after a period of service of thirty-six years. In this period he had in charge other engineering works, but those mentioned were the most important, or prominent of his undertakings.

In 1854, in association with the Messrs. Robert, John B. and Eli P. King, he established the Banking House of Robinson, King & Co., which continued business until 1864, when the Second National Bank of Ravenna was organized and Mr. Robinson became its first President, and occupied that position until his voluntary retirement a few years since, though he remained in the directory of the bank up to his death. In 1863, in company with D. C. Coolman, he established the Diamond Window Glass manufactory, and engaged actively in its management until 1879, when he sold his interest and retired from all active business.

July 26, 1831 he married Louisa M. Johnson at Lancaster, Ohio, who now survives him, with six of their seven children: Capt. A. K. Robinson, Mrs. T. F. Wildes, Miss Frances H. Robinson, Mrs. H. W. Riddle, Geo. F. Robinson, Esq., Mrs. M. Adelaide Smith, all of whom with the exception of Mrs. Wildes, are residents of Ravenna, Mrs. Wildes residing in the neighboring city of Akron. The three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson entered the Union Army, and their second son, Lieut. W. H. Robinson of the 7th Ohio Infantry, died in the service in 1861, the first Ravenna soldier who was cut down by death. Eleven grand-children and one great-grand-child, conclude the family tree.

Mr. Robinson, was essentially a self-made man. He attained and occupied a high position in his profession, and in other walks of life. In the year 1842, Mr. Robinson made a profession of religion, and under the pastorate of Rev. L. D. Mix united with the Ravenna Methodist church, ever continuing a valued member, and a consistent, christian gentleman, May, 10, 1852, he became a member of Ravenna Lodge No. 65, I. O. O. F.

The funeral of Mr. Robinson took place at 2 p. m., Friday, July 14th, from his late residence, and was under the auspices of Ravenna Lodge No. 65, I. O. O. F., who designated Messrs. H. Y. Beebe, F. W. Coffin, Wm. Ward, D. N. Furry, D. C. Coolman, W. Holcomb, pall-bearers. At the house the religious services were conducted by Rev. John Tribby, and Rev. R. F. Randolph assisted by a male quartet of singers. The rites of the Order were performed at Maple Grove Cemetery, by Rev. Andrew Willson, Chaplain of Ravenna Lodge.

A number of the employees of the Diamond Glass Works attended the funeral of Mr. Robinson in a body to attest their profound respect for their former employer, and the First National Bank and Banking House of E. S. Comstock were closed during the funeral hours, as a token of respect for their deceased business conferee.

This rapid glance at the life of one of Ravenna's oldest citizens, is, of necessity brief, but still it is a tribute to one whose worth during the long period of his activities was sincerely respected. To his family and immediate circle of friends he leaves the rich legacy of a most honorable fame, and there can come no flock to disturb the memories of one who was a pure citizen, and with all manliness filled his place in the world.

At Tahiti, Oct 4th, 1864, ship Alpha, Caswell, of this port, oil not stated—had discharged her cargo, hove out, caulked her bottom, upper works and decks, and would sail in three or four days for New Zealand, to cruise the season, thence to Bay of Islands, and home.

SPOKEN.

March 5th, lat 40 15, lon 60, bk Roscius, NB, with 150 bbls wh oil, 4 days out.

WHALING ENTERPRISE.—We announce with much satisfaction that the enterprising owners of schooner Rainbow are fitting her for a cruise in the Atlantic. She is to be commanded by Capt. Zenas Coleman, formerly master of ship Atlantic, a competent navigator, skilful whalerman, and in all other respects A 1. We are glad to see such a man take an interest in the undertaking, and we predict for it a successful result.

TO BE TRANSFERRED.—Orders have been issued for the transfer into the navy of seafaring men enlisted in the army, and 7000 such have already made application to be transferred.

THE DEAD AT GETTYSBURG.—All the bodies of the Union soldiers hastily interred in ditches and trenches after the battle of Gettysburg, have been removed to appropriate places in the National Cemetery. The whole number was 3512, of whom about one thousand were unknown. About one-fourth of the whole number belonged to New York regiments. A monument is to be raised by the 1st army corps, near the spot where General Reynolds, their brave commander fell. It is probable that the bodies of the Confederate dead will be collected and placed in an enclosure by themselves.

A NEW TOWN.—A new town has been added to Dukes County; the act establishing the town of Gosnold, embracing the Elizabeth Islands, heretofore a part of Chilmark, having been signed by the Governor, and become a law.

RE-ENLISTED.—Mr. Edward C. Bennett, of this town, a member of the 3d Rhode Island Battery, stationed on Morris Island, is now in town on his furlough, having re-enlisted for another three years.

The grave of an unknown soldier at Newport News, Va., is marked by a head-board bearing only this very touching and poetic epitaph: "A soldier of the Union—Mustered out."

A Washington despatch says that the prospect of a speedy return of the people of Arkansas to loyalty and submission daily brightens.

A housemaid the other evening slipped from a chair upon which she was temporarily standing, and fell head foremost into a barrel of flour. To show the effect of mental agony, we will state that her hair became white in a single night.—Bangor Whig.
